Security

- Please be extra careful as there have been reports of theft from hotel rooms.
- Lock up valuables
- Report anything suspicious and notify management and police if necessary.
- Next year make sure you have a plan in place to keep valuables safe rather than in your room.

Hygiene

Let us be aware that keeping clean hands when we play cards will greatly reduce the spread of the Congress cough.

Now is the time to put in my diary to bring tissues and hand cleanser next year!

The lead of a low spade is won by the ♠J and the defenders switch to ♦A and ♦5.

You win in dummy and ruff a spade, hoping the A falls. When this fails you follow with ♣A, spade ruff and ♣K, spade ruff leaving

	♠Q ♥KQ65
♠ ♥10974 ♦J ♣	♠A ♥J32 ♦5	♠K ♥A8 ♦K ♣3

You play a heart towards dummy and LHO plays ♥Q which you let hold. They continue hearts and you proceed to cross ruff the hand leaving a small club in dummy and a small heart in your hand which are ruffed by the opponent with the ♦2. Scoring 9 tricks for 110.

You are pleased with this result because the opponents can make a partial of their own. However, your teammates come back with minus 130 for a loss on the board.

Contract: 7NT by South, lead ♣Q.

Pam Hancox had a great story of bidding and making this Grand Slam, and in teams you need good grand slams.

Pam's fairy godmother was fluttering nearby and Pam was watching carefully. First Pam tried the spades, then she ran the hearts, ♦K and clubs back to her hand. She had seen one diamond discard from West and perhaps club discards released reluctantly. Correctly she guessed West was holding onto ♦Q. At the end she had the ♦10 and ♠9 (which she thought was not the best) and took the plunge and finessed the ♦J. Well done Pam – careful play and little luck will see you through.

Is there a squeeze? A question I hate to be asked but yes here I think there is. This would be the end position.

Play all your winners outside diamonds:

	♥6
	♦AJ8
♦Q97		♠J
♣J		♦632
	♠9
	♦K10
	♣9

On the ♥6 East must keep ♠J and needs must discard a low diamond. South will throw the ♠9, and turn her attention to West. A club discard sets up declarer's ♣9 so if she may discard a diamond. Now South smugly knows that she can't go wrong, and dummy's last diamond will be good.

What should West actually do? Discard a club, you never know partner may have ♣9xx and had the foresight to keep them.

We weren't given the bidding but it should be reasonably easy for the strong NT openers, using transfers and RKCB. My suggested auction would be something like this:

1NT-2♦, 2♥-3♦, 4♥-4NT, 5♠-5NT, 6♦ - 7♥.

Playing a weak NT there could be a bidding issue. South needs to show extra strength perhaps with a jump:

1♣-1♥, 1♠-2♦, 3♥-4NT, 5♠-5NT, 6♦ - 7♥.

The heart slam is better than the NT as the diamond ruff is a better chance than the finesse or squeeze.

What do we teach in lessons about No Trumps? You want to play No Trumps with balanced hands, enough points, stoppers in all suits. Ok try using this one in you classes. On a normal auction South will become declarer in 3NT and go 2 or 3 down. Nothing works.

All West needs to do is make a passive diamond lead and East plays hearts when they can.
