POLICY FOR CORRECTION OF SCORING ERRORS

- 1. The directors will change a scoring error which is reported by the player who has benefitted from the error.
- 2. Errors reported by the non-benefitting side must be confirmed to the director by the opponents unless, in the opinion of the director, the error is demonstrably obvious.

- 3. The Chief Director's decision is final.

Review of Director's Ruling

If a director gives a ruling at the table with which you are uncomfortable, please advise the director that you would like a review of that decision by the Chief Director. The director will then advise you and your opponents where to meet with the Chief Director (usually Seminar Room 3)

Back to the Future Teams

This event runs on Monday for those who do not qualify for the Pairs Final or the Plate. The format of the event is that over the 3 sessions (2 qualifying and the final) each member of a team has to play one session with each other member. This means that it is inappropriate for substitutes to be allowed except in a genuine emergency. Therefore, teams containing players who are also contesting the Rubber final CANNOT qualify to play in the final of the Back to the Future. As with all Congress events, substitutes can only be approved by the Chief Director.

News of the AGM

NZ Bridge announced a strategy to grow Bridge in New Zealand. One initiative will be a short movie advertisement.

Responding to a question about social media policy, board members assured the meeting that its intention is to enable better use of social media rather than stifling disagreement.

Text me if you have a hand and I will be incredibly grateful. I can only watch 1 table.

Editor's hobby horse:

Surely now I can give free rein ...

Hand hygiene – make sure your hands are clean before and during play. Share the love not the 'flu.

Slow play – if you think this is going to affect you, let the Directors know in good time so they can intervene.

Just in case you missed it ... you can take stimulants to keep going.

Scoreup Youth style

Honorary solicitor Fergus More played his last congress and smoked his last cigarette in 1987. A condition of his future wife. The healthy addiction has come back as Fergus and his wife recently played a novice event.

After some youthful overbidding the 3♠ contract by West is reasonable.

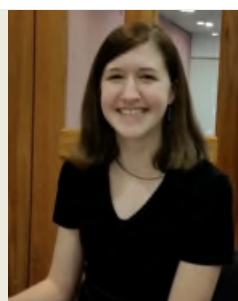

Lead 6♦, Tegan tried the spade finesse, Jen returned a ♦, Daniel fell from grace playing a third ♦, ruff and discard. Now Tegan made no mistake, drew trumps, ducked a club and took her 9 tricks.

I had sat down at this table hoping to see some good play from Tegan. It was after 9pm the last board of the last match of the day and frankly nothing was going her way. But watching the cards carefully she brought 3♠ home in confident style, she is 13 and has been playing for 2 months.

Taking tricks with Enid Trower

At 97 we think Enid is the most senior senior at Congress. Her home club is Hamilton and in the last year apart from Congress she has played often in Rotorua and Morrinsville. She earned her first A points in 1995, but since 2003 she has been regularly gaining up to 13 A points per year, the more recent years more fruitful than earlier ones.

I watched Enid at the wheel for a couple of hands in the Restricted Open.

The last hand of the match and you trail by 890, Nil Vul. So you need a small slam.

Charlie Cahn (West) opens 1♠, Nigel Kearney (East) replies 2♦, Charlie decides to raise to the required level. Nigel had no problems with the play! No lead creates any problems but the opening Q♥ was a bonus. Commiserations to Anthony Ker and Russell Dive missing out by 50 points.

Congratulations Gold Grandmaster Julie Atkinson

Watching two Gold Grandmasters in round one, I am bound to pick up some good tips. Let's start with Hand 1, effectively this is the first hand of the Congress. Surely the dealmaster will start with an easy one.

Julie had to play 1NT from the North hand. Martin Bloom lead a fourth highest ♠. After ducking a round Julie took her Ace and played one back. So E-W took 4 spade tricks, Julie pitching a heart.

Martin found a good switch low ♥ from Q7, to the 10 ducked. Now a 3♣ to Ace and 2♣ from Julie. Martin thought for a moment and took his King, Peter following with 9♣. Now Q♥ left Julie on play again. She couldn't be denied a diamond trick but -3 still left Martin Bloom and Peter Gill smiling.

Patrick and Julie play Kiwiclub. Perhaps the auction on 25 might have helped Murray McMillan bring home a difficult game.

Lead 8♣.

1♦ was Kiwiclub showing an unbalanced hand with a minor. 3♣ showed a desire to compete in partner's minor. The defence was ♣ to the K, small ♦ switch to the ten.

Murray cashed the A♥ then exited ♣. Julie switched to a low ♠ to Q. If Murray can read south's shape, cash A♠ and exit a ♥ the throw in brings home his game.

Australians made welcome.

The welcome mat was put out for Keiran Crowe-Mai and Chris Mulley EW on board 3.

The defence was to lead A♣ and force with clubs. Declarer ruffed tried a ♠ to East's Ace. Now declarer went seriously wrong discarding a small ♦ on the third ♣, West cashed A♦ and continued the club force ruffed by North and overruffed with Keiran's Q. When the dust settled it was 800 to EW. Brutal.

Simon Brayshaw Matthew Raisin played in the best scoring 6NT from south on board 15. To make a make a great result fantastic Simon got a low ♠ lead. After running 3 club tricks and 6 diamonds, EW had both pitched hearts. That with a heart finesse delivered 13 tricks.

Patrick and Julie relayed to 6♦ played by North after a ♠ lead and ♦ switch suggested the K♥ was well-placed but Julie had no trouble setting up a long club to pitch the hearts from dummy.

Julie and Patrick started by playing board 7 against Alan Dormer and Anthony Hopkins. Alan invented the Dormer coup in the bidding. During a long relay sequence he paused thoughtfully then produced a pass in Julie's section of the bidding pad. Sorry not today the bidding continued and Patrick found the matchpoint winning 6NT to start off a grandmasterly set 62.97%.

Book Review

Defending Suit Contracts (Test Your Bridge Technique)

David Bird and Tim Bourke

2005

Master Point Press

What could be easier than defending perfectly? Unfortunately just about everything.

This book has 36 problems in batches of 4. Each problem comes with a clear explanation of the solution and principle involved eg trump promotion, removing entries to dummy, and more complex situations requiring cooperation with partner.

Problem books of this type can sometimes seem too simple because the reader is naturally on the alert for a problem. Also there can be a tendency to focus on clean examples where there is only one thing to consider. Equally the partnership element of defence is harder to convey than neater problems which just require to follow suit or show count.

The authors overcome these traps by supplying extensive notes explaining each solution. Sometimes they give a more difficult in the solution to develop the point.

Clearly this book uses a tried and true formula, showing real examples and avoiding jargon.

Are you considering a Homer nomination for yourself or perhaps partner. The historical standard is very high. This “winner” from 1993

1993. “Homer Braithwaite”. An award well won when Andy found himself on lead after the following snappy auction.

West	East
1 ♠	2 ♣
5NT	7NT
Pass

Andy’s heart holding was AK10xx and any heart lead would have done as his partner held 6 to the queen. The contract was defeated though the absence of a double was duly noted. Andy deduced correctly that 7 ♣ was cold (there were 14 top tricks) though had not considered how the opposition could retreat there without his consent.

Answer: Directors at the first Congress: Rob Jacobs (Chief Director), Arie Geursen, John Lawson, Mervyn Doak, Brian Northcott, Dick Timmer.

 Merle switched to J♥ Daniel Braun ducked and won A♥. He took A♠ while Merle followed with Q♠ then crossed back to dummy with a club ruff. He studiously ran 10♠ to the bare J, but now Merle had no more hearts so 4♠ made exactly.
