Lead ♣4. Bid the slam? Very good now play your best to make it.

The lead doesn't matter much, you discard your possible heart loser. Now the only possible problem is the trump suit. It can be helpful to know the percentages – a 2-2 break is slightly more frequent than a 3-1 break. There are three competing lines:

- Cash ♠A hoping to drop an honour singleton offside.
- Small from dummy to ♠10.
- Small from dummy to ♠6

Let's quickly deal with the idea of running the ♠J. This is only best in one case 4 trumps outside. But it fails with a singleton honour outside 2 cases.

What should you do if East plays the ♠4? If you play the ♠10, you lose to singleton honour in West. If you play the ♠6, you lose to KQ-94, because you will finesse the ♠10 next time. However, you will also pick up void-KQ94 in East. This makes it slightly preferable to play the ♠6.

What if East plays the ♠9? Now it might be better to win the Ace, since that only loses to 4-KQ9 and picks up KQ-94. A final thought... imagine you are the defender with KQ94 and declarer plays small from dummy. Maybe you should play the ♠9 to steer declarer wrong.

Regardless, a quick analysis shows that most Intermediates who bid the slam also made it, well done. Mark Lynn and Mark Paget was one pair who played that way.

Profile – Denise Barnett and Tegan Bennik

Denise has been playing for about 2 years after learning in classes taught by Alan Grant. Alan must be a good teacher because last year her daughter, Tegan, attended his classes and as a result came to the Youth Teams competition with 2 months bridge experience.

(Some of you may remember the story about Tegan on page 4 of last year's bulletin1 making 3♦ on the last hand of the day).

Since then Tegan has attended the Youth Camp in Christchurch, and both she and Denise play on Tuesday and Thursday nights at The Wellington Bridge Club, sometimes with other partners but frequently together.

At the Congress which is Denise's first they are playing the Intermediate events.

Opening lead ♣10. Yes if South leads spades or diamonds the contract is -1.

Rarely have so many tricks changed hands depending on the 3rd play on an opening lead. West covered the lead with ♣J and Brett decided to duck. The consequences were fatal. Declarer continued with ♥Q and after a successful finesse made 12 tricks.

Board 8 in the Int/PAB/Seniors teams caused some excitement. Most pairs found an opening for the West hand. Here were some auctions

2♥	3♣	3♥	3♠
Pass	4♠	=

WEST	NORTH	EAST	SOUTH
Pass	Pass	2♠	2NT

Or this variant taking Mr Whibley's advice on 5-6 major-minor two suiters. But the continuation shows a "wait and see" approach paying dividends.

Carlos Pellegrini and Rodrigo Garcia da Rosa

Two members of Argentinian Bridge Teams are at Congress. Carlos is well known to us having first played here in 2009. He played in Wroclaw with Pablo Lambardi. In August he was coach and npc of the Youth Team in Salsomaggiore. Rodrigo was a player in the team playing with Maximo Crusizio. Originally from Uruguay, Rodrigo now lives in Buenos Aires. Both show an excellent technique and temperament at the bridge table. On Saturday they cheer for Los Pumas.

Yes even Michael Courtney can be fooled. The youthful pair of Jamie Thompson and Ella Pattison needed to be on top form to beat 1NT by two tricks.

“Chickens” was Michael’s comment when 1NT was passed out. It was going to be the sort of battle of the part-score that he excels at. Jamie lead ♦3, round to ♦Q. Michael played ♠K which seems an unusual card but will gain when an unwary defender without the ♠Q may duck, and also when ♠109 doubleton, ♠Q singleton, ♠Q doubleton and even ♠Qxx. In any case to play spades from dummy would remove the only entry ♥A and open up that suit.

Jamie took the ♠A and made an excellent switch to ♥9, dummy and Ella played low (no doubt encouraging) and Michael won ♥Q. Now Michael played a ♠4 to dummy’s ♠8 and Ella’s ♠9. It would be tempting to lead out ♥K now but first Ella needed to put Michael to the test. She played ♣J and Michael put up the ♣A. Now ♠5 to the ♠Q and Jamie continued the good work with ♥4, ducked to ♥J and a low heart (suit preference) took out the ♥A.

Michael tried a club from dummy, and was perhaps surprised to see Ella win her ♣K and then cash 2 heart winners and the chickens had come home to roost. With the final two tricks ♣Q and ♦A resulting in 1NT -2.

Once more Michael Courtney was declarer and the youth pairs in defence. They got an excellent result again.

In the play the defence took two top hearts and because of the nasty club situation all three diamond tricks on offer.

But they could have had one more trick. It is an interesting trump promotion that you may not expect with ♠A765 and a vulnerable preempt to your right.

Jamie lead ♥10 the suit Ella showed with her double. After two heart winners, Ella switched to ♦10.

Consider a possible play: ♥Q, followed immediately by ♦10, again ♦Q and ♦A, now and ♥7 to ♥K, and ♦K on which West discards a high discouraging club. After a short think East might work out the best defence of a 4th diamond giving a useless ruff and discard to declarer. If declarer fails to ruff high West scores a cheap trick, and if he ruffs high West discards and gets a promoted ♠7.

The normal spade lead was won by the ♠K. Declarer was totally inspired and emerged with the ♦K. An equally inspired defender could have held off the ♦A twice but this time he was too hasty and 3NT rolled home with 15 points combined. An excellent result for one Intermediate team.

I got 7NT today in the teams in the final session Board 10. The spades did not break and it came down to the final diamond finesse towards the A J of diamonds. I had already played the king. I observed a diamond discard from West. I was South. No further Diamond discards appeared so I went for West having the Queen. Bingo!! What a great feeling. 7NT for 2220!!!

Well done indeed!

Cheers!
