This is the hand where North decided to give suit preference to hearts rather than introduce a 7 card suit into the bidding (a surprising dummy indeed)

South in 2♥ had diamonds played twice early by EW so was completely cut-off from dummy, and after making 6 tricks and no hope for another, conceded down 2.

Malcolm "sharp eyed" as ever notices that as he is forced to win trick twelve he still has a diamond remaining to play into dummy's winner.

Well done to Malcolm for spotting the accidental endplay, and not accepting the top board.

Chances To Swing

Wayne Burrows

We (Stephanie Jacob, Rebecca Wood, Clair Miao and myself) have just completed an enjoyable match in the semi-finals of the NZ Teams against Reid (Martin Reid, Peter Newell, Michael Ware, Justin Mill, James Coutts and Liam Milne). By enjoyable, I mean as enjoyable as it can be when you lose.

Clair and I played three of the four sets against Coutts and Milne. Many hands were battles of careful declarer play and tight defence. We went into the last set 36 imps down, so I had my eye out to look for opportunities to push the boundaries in search of a swing.

I saw a small opportunity on board 14. In first seat, I hold:

♠ AKT83 ♥ AK9 ♦ T97 ♣ 53

I upgraded to a 15-17 1NT; not much of an upgrade with a good 5 card suit but, with 2 suits not stopped, it could easily be better to start with 1♠. Clair responded 2NT which we play like Puppet Stayman so I bid 3♠ showing 5 spades and 3 hearts. Clair raised me to game.

When dummy tracked with

♠ Q42 ♥ QJ82 ♦ Q8 ♣ K742

Game was poor but playable except that the lead was the ♣J and it looked like there were 2 club and 2 diamond losers. The only hope was no diamond switch. But this is not a tale of success. James accurately switched to ♦A at trick 2 before continuing clubs to Liam's Queen. Liam ensured the set by cashing the ♦K but the hand is not over.

Liam has 4 spades to the Jack and, assuming I am awake, I will play a top spade then a spade to the queen, discovering the position. I can then finesse against his Jack. So Liam tapped dummy with a diamond. Now, when I discover the bad spade break, it is too late to take the finesse.

Or is it? In dummy with the diamond ruff, I ruffed a club to hand and played ♠K and a spade to the Queen to produce this position

|        |       |       |

|        | ♠ J7  |       |
|        | ♥ 653 |       |
|        | ♦     |       |
|        | ♣     |       |
| ♠ AT   | N     | ♠ AT  |

|        | ♣ T   |       |

I could now play the high hearts in my hand before crossing to dummy's Queen while Liam helplessly followed suit. Both of dummy's winners were of no value in their own right but with the lead in dummy whichever I played would finesse Liam's ♠J.

"Well played" said Liam and it was well defended too. This hand is illustrative of our match – ultimately both the contract and our campaign failed.

As so often happens in bridge, a few moments later I was declarer in another dodgy contract.

Partner opened 1♦ and I responded a rather uncomfortable 1NT with

♠ 54 ♥ K74 ♦ 743 ♣ QJ643

My discomfort increased when this was raised to 3NT.

James led the ♥5 and I got the following dummy:

♠ AK98 ♥ A2 ♦ KT985 ♣ A7

There was no obvious route to 9 tricks. Say I rise ♥A and played Ace and another club then, even if clubs were favourable, I only had 2 spades, 2 hearts and 4 clubs so I would still need a diamond trick. If hearts were 5-3 even with the diamond Ace onside that would not work. So I had to rely on diamonds and the club finesse. The problem with this line is that there are not enough entries to hand to finesse clubs and lead up to the diamond. I ducked the heart lead, hoping for a third round eventually from the defence to give me my King. Winning the ♥A on the second round, I was desperate. Needing to set up diamonds, I began immediately with a low diamond towards the 7. Liam though imagined a different layout. He thought that I might be out stealing. If I had the ♦Q and ♣KQJxx I would have 9 tricks. Also, Liam thought that James might have led from ♥KQxx and had hit Liams 5 card suit in which case he could defeat 3NT immediately by rising ♦A and cashing 3 more hearts. Not today.

This enabled me time to set up diamonds and exhaust Liam of his last entry to his long hearts.

Semi-Finals Of The Teams

The Reid team was trailing by over 50imps part way through this morning's session. Three boards in short space of time saw them eat up 80% of the deficit.

|        | ♦ T962  |        |  |
|        | ♣ JT974 |        |  |

Warren Lazer and Pauline Gumby had a traditional type auction:

| West | North | East | South |
|------|-------|------|-------|
| 1♦   | P     | 1♠   | P     |
| 3♠   | P     | 4NT  | P     |
| 5♠   | P     | 5NT  | P     |
| 6♣   | P     | 6♠   |       |

As can be seen, the almost mirror shapes and lack of a second heart honour renders this playless.

I won't bother to reproduce the auction of Martin Reid and Peter Newell as it was a relay auction in which Martin kept asking questions, while telling nothing, and Peter answered.

They reached 4♣ and, at this point, Martin, sitting West, knew Peter's exact shape and also that Peter had 6 controls (A = 2, K = 1). Martin had 5 so he knew that there was a King missing. Martin now bid 4♦ which asked for denial cue bids

For those not familiar with these: firstly mentally arrange your hand in descending suit length. If 2 suits are of equal length then the higher ranking goes first. So Peter arranges his

♠ ♦ ♥ ♣

You now stop on the step where you DON'T have a control (In Martin and Peter's methods this is A or K or Q.

Over 4♦, 4♥ would show no spade card. 4♠ would show a spade card but no diamond card and 4NT showed a spade card and a diamond card but denied a heart card.

Peter did bid 4NT so he has neither the King or Queen of hearts. This means (granted that Peter has 6 controls his hand is

♠AKXX ♥ XXX ♦ AXXX ♣ KX

Martin now knows that there are 2 inescapable losers in any slam and he can count 4 spades (probable – he doesn't know about Peter's Jack), 1 heart, 4 diamonds (probable – as spades) and 2 club tricks. 11 top tricks and so Martin passed 4NT and the 11 tricks duly eventuated.

Onto the next

Michael and Justin reached grand via

| West | North | East | South |
|------|-------|------|-------|
|      |       |      | 1♥    |
| P    | 1♠    | P    | 2♣    |

| P    | 5♠    | P    | 5NT   |
| P    | 7♣    |      |       |

After a convoluted auction where Jeff in the North seat bid 1♦ over the strong opening of 1♣ which we think is either diamonds or both majors, Peter in the East seat ended up in 5 diamonds. Graeme had to find the spade lead to ensure at least a 1 trick defeat, Graeme Stout chose a club lead which picked up Jeff Miller’s King. Peter pushed out the club 10 looking like a man needing a ruff. When Graeme played small, Peter’s second spade loser disappeared

Nothing esoteric just good accurate bidding.

Things were very different in the other room:

| West | North | East | South |
|------|-------|------|-------|
|      |       |      | 1♥    |
| INT  | X     | P    | P     |
| xx   | P     | 2♣   | P     |
| 2♦   | P     | P    | x     |

1NT was comic and xx said “Beam me up, Scotty”

This went for 1100 but 2140 in the other room meant 14 imps.

At the other table, excellent defence put this 2 light when Justin worked out from the rebidding of the heart suit that Michael was void. The heart ruff, 2 spades and the ♦K meant 2 off and a further 13 imps for Reid.

Three boards later and it was 14 more.
