QUIZ ANSWER (FRIDAY)

A youthful Patrick is $5^{\text {th }}$ from the left. Congratulations to Yvonne Hughes from Invercargill club who is playing in the Intermediate events later in the week.

For those of you who have been trying to work out who the others are:

PLAYER PROFILE:

Today we meet one of the youngest players at this year's Congress, Aengus Moore of Hamilton who is caddying but also played in the Novice Pairs on Sunday with 12 year old Briar Coleman.

What got you interested in bridge?

I read a book called "The Card Turner" by Louis Sachar. In the book, the main character's uncle is a bridge player and goes blind and so he becomes his card turner. I thought the game sounded interesting and wanted to give it a try.

That's an interesting choice of book for a teenager, why did you choose it?

I had read his other series of books and liked them.

How long have you been playing bridge? I started this year and play at the Hamilton Club on Tuesday nights.

Is there any family history of bridge or other card games?

My dad and grandpa used to play 500 in their smoko breaks at work. I learnt the game from them and have been brought up around cards. I like bridge because you need more card sense. I like the technicality and the map or structure of the game. I also play chess.

Do you have any other hobbies apart from chess?
I like to play golf and hockey.
Do you think you will keep playing bridge? Have you set any goals for the game?
I plan to keep playing it as a hobby / socially. I haven't really thought about playing it competitively at a high level.

Finally, what would you say to other teenagers who might be thinking of trying bridge?

It's not for everyone! It takes a certain type of person to be able to sit still for 3 hours. But it is a good game to learn as you can play it throughout your whole life - same as golf.

THE ONLY WAY IS UP!

In a similar vein to yesterday's article featuring Bigi Cameron and K C Lee, NZ Bridge Chair Allan Morris and his partner, Beverly, also started with a zero MP board. In their case it was Board 17:

2022 CONGRESS BULLETIN

Most of the room played it in one of the majors. Nothing like a couple of 8 card suits to get the bidding moving! 4 and 5 for NS gave about par scores for both sides, with 5 pairs getting the extras for being doubled. 50 X was a little too expensive for EW. Allan and Beverly were one of four pairs that decided to try their luck with 5 which was duly doubled. Nobody ran to $\boldsymbol{\bullet}$ so it was left to make the best of a bad situation. Unfortunately for Allan and Beverly, it went horribly wrong. 7 light doubled and - 1700 in the book. The other pairs in the same contract did 1 or 2 tricks better. Only one way to go from there and good to hear there were no recriminations at the table. As Confucius said:

Just meant they were now playing a 26 board session!

Apologies by the way if the title of the article has put the 1988 number 1 hit by Yazz in your head and now you can't get it out! Here's a link to the song on YouTube.

Abstract

GRAND SLAM CLUB for Sunday (all successful grand slammers will go into the draw to win $2 \times $ 50$ restaurant vouchers. Drawn on Thursday morning)

Session 1 Board 1:

Jamie Thomson / Lakshmi Sunderasan; Hugh McAlister / Diana McAlister; Ranald Ducat / Dennis Apperley; Luke Kelly / Chris Bolland; Barbara Imlach / Sue Cohen; Rochelle van Heuven / Tim Righter (all 7 as)

GeO Tislevoll / Nick Jacob; Brian Mace / Tom Jacob; Murray Phillips / Murray McMillan / Andrew Braithwaite / Martin Lofgren; James Yang / Yuzhong Chen; Annette Henry / Stephen Fischer; Shane Harrison / Andy Hung; June Lei / Jeter Livy; Jack James / Jeremy Fraser-Hoskin; Jane Lennon / Max Morrison; Carol Richardson / Andi Boughey; Shirley Newton / Jenny Wilkinson (all 7NT)

COMPETITION: SIGN OF THE TIMES?
Do not play with balls in the foyer.
Take them into the court areas and Go Nuts.

You may have noticed this sign in the Arena foyer which, if your mind is that way inclined, has a rather amusing double entendre. A $50 restaurant voucher (which can be donated to someone at Congress) for the most amusing sign in the same vein for a Bridge Club (eg Do not ...... in the Bridge Room. Take ..... and ....)

Final Question: Bald on top or hairy at back? (Laughing) Hairy at back.

A CASE OF MISTAKEN IDENTITY?

So this drops out of a lady's handbag and lands on the floor. At first glance, without looking at the writing, what is it?

Mereana Cullen was playing a session of bridge at the Mount Maunganui club before the AGM on Friday and reached into her bag to pull out a pen when this fell out.

"You've dropped something" immediately followed by "That looks like a condom" from Julie Sheridan (go on, admit it, you all thought that too!)
"It's not!" was the rather indignant reply.
"Are you sure?" (I think she'd know if it was ...)
"Unless Specsavers have taken up another line" (it's a Specsavers moisture cloth!)
Unidentified "older" player (as described by Mereana): "That won't help you. I don't think it has contraceptive properties".

Yesterday's column was called Battle of the Reds" but l've decided not to ask for trouble so I'll leave this one untitled.

Board 27 from the morning session had plenty to offer, especially for those pairs in the A section who were playing it at the end. I decided to observe the action at the table with Shane Harrison and Andy Hung vs Julian Foster and Jenna Gibbons,

2022 CONGRESS BULLETIN

| South Shane | West Julian | North Andy | East  Jenna |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 1 * | 2\% | X | 2 |
| 34 | Pass | Pass | 5\% |
| Pass | Pass | Pass |  |

The Bo Haglund analysis tells us 11 tricks are available in both $$$ and $$$ and with neither side vulnerable, fireworks could well be expected. 10 tricks were also available for NS in but I wasn't expecting them to be the final contract anywhere.
At this table the bidding was, perhaps, a bit passive:

Andy's double showed the majors and Jenna's 2 was a good raise in $\$$ (a VERY good raise as it happened). Not too much trouble for Shane to push for game with 39 and after Julian's pass and a check that $2 \checkmark$ was indeed a good raise, Andy thought for some time before passing and Jenna quickly raised to game where it was played. The initial lead of 9 was won by the $Q$, followed by the $K$ which was ruffed in dummy. One spade trick was won by NS and Julian made his 11 tricks when he got the play of the suit correct . 100\% of the match points then to Julian and Jenna. A bit of a dampener for Shane and Andy to finish on but they still ended the session, and indeed the day, in $1^{\text {st }}$ place.

Looking at the results in across the 4 sections of the Open, as expected they varied wildly with one pair defying my expectations by playing it in 5 (it was doubled).
27 pairs played it in 54, 8 of them doubled with only 4 of them making it. Of the 19 undoubled, only 1 made it. 1 away was by far the most popular result. Looks pretty easy to make when you see the hand records as you now know not to try for the $\boldsymbol{\varphi}$ drop and also which way to play the suit! A further 7 were in 4, 2 of them doubled with one making their 10 tricks and two pairs were in 64. As well as one pair trying $5 \checkmark$, there was also one enterprising EW pair who had a not very successful go at 3NT. The rest of the field played it in a $\$$ contract with varying degrees of success. 6\$X was played 5 times, seemingly a good sacrifice. 5\$ was played 8 times, 3 of those times doubled. Interestingly when doubled it wasn't made whereas 3 of the 5 who played it (Julian Foster / Jenna Gibbons, Ronald Ducat / Dennis Apperley and Naomi Hannah-Brown / Priscilla Bloy) found the right line to make their 11 tricks.

QUOTE OF THE DAY:

"We don't need an excuse to drink beer".

PLAYS OF THE DAY (THE GOOD, THE BAD AND THE UGLY):

Who doesn't love it when the most unlikely looking play works? If you're John Kruiniger and Fiona Temple you sure do. If you're Anna Kalma and Richard Solomon, at least you can laugh about it!

A very tame auction:

| East  Anna | South John | West Richard | North Fiona |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 14 | 20 | Pass | Pass |
| Pass |  |  |  |

The obligatory singleton 9 lead which is won in dummy with the Ace and then time to start on that ${ }^{-}$suit. On the 9 , Anna put her 8 , showing count. John played his Q and Richard ducked with the 2 wanting to keep his AJT over John's King. John led the 5 from hand and Richard, still keeping his cover, ducks again. Anna only has the 4 left and the 5 wins, much to everyone's amusement. Bo Haglund says 9 tricks are available and John, along with many others, made 8 tricks so it probably didn't affect the result. Nonetheless a $69 \%$ board for John and Fiona and a most unusual way to win trick 3.

| North | East | South | West |

Oops! South probably knew there had been a communication breakdown when their 3$ was not alerted...

A

The only pair in the room across both competitions to somehow negotiate the wild distribution in this hand to bid and make the only makeable game contract of 3NT! (One other pair bid it but fell one trick short).

Unfortunately for them, they didn't get the top board they deserved (they got 61.5\% for it) due to the large amount of 800 and 1100 scores that were flying around, so they'll have to settle for the virtual flowers!

DIRECTORS CORNER:

With Murray Wiggins

Hesitations - an explanation and debunking a common belief.

You are South and hold the following hand. Your partner opens $1 \Omega$.

You know that you will be in game - you have game values and heart support - and if your partner has more than minimum values then you could easily be in slam. You decide to bid your clubs and wait to see what partner bids.

Your pesky opponents intervene with a 2 Q overcall and your partner dives into the tank and resurfaces after a good 30 seconds and passes!

The opponents immediately comment about the hesitation and you can do nothing but agree. Afterall, you always adhere to the highest ethical standards.

The bidding continues

It is now your turn to call. Ethically, what action can you take?

There is a widespread belief that 'once your partner has hesitated then you are banned from making any further bids'.

This is incorrect.
You knew when your partner opened that you were going to play in a game and, if your partner had been more helpful, may have bid on to slam. Their pass shows that they don't have a large hand - probably less than 15 HCP . You want to play at the game level and are free bid $4 \bigcirc$.

There is nothing to stop your partner from continuing to bid if they are now keen to investigate a slam.

| $W$ | $N$ | $E$ | $S$ |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
|  | $1 \nabla$ | $P$ | $2 母$ |
| $2 Q$ | $P^{*}$ |  |  |

2022 CONGBESS BULLETIN

If, instead, you hold the following hand, what should you do?

The bidding sequence is the same.

Your hand is minimum and has no extra distributional values. If your partner had passed without hesitating, then you would have passed. The fact that they have hesitated before passing does imply that they had more than a minimum hand but you must ignore that and pass. You should do this without hesitating which then allows your partner to bid again should that want to compete.

NZ BRIDGE &  JIN CIUB  Junior • Intermediate • Novice

The first event exclusively for JIN club members was held today. The Novice Pairs was open to all players who had not yet attained their Certificate of Proficiency as at 1 January 2022. Seven tables playing a full 26 board Howell under the guidance of director BabsMerel de Visser. The event was won by 13 year old Alex Shan from Auckland and his partner Kate Wade from Tauranga with a very healthy score of $61.54 \%$. They were the only pair bidding and making 4a on Board 26. These are their hands:

Well bid!
