Camp warfare

CAMP vs. LLOYD's last nine board match in the round of 8 was crucial for both teams. CAMP comprises Aucklanders Owen Camp – Anisia Shami and English expert and fantastic bridge journalist Brian Senior, playing at congress with Nigel Bird.

Brian is a professional bridge player and writer from Nottingham. He has represented Great Britain, England, Northern Ireland and Ireland in international competition and has won all the major English Bridge Union teams competitions. He is also the editor and publisher of the annual official world championship book, under World Bridge Federation auspices. As well as all these activities, Brian has authored his own books on bridge, is a regular contributor to the IBPA Bulletin for bridge journalists, as well as being a popular bridge teacher.

What are the odds? Straight after being eliminated in the round of eight, Team LLOYD faced each other in the Swiss

LLOYD is expat Tania Lloyd, presently based in the beautiful Kangaroo Valley, NSW and Hugh Grosvenor from Hobart, with Chris dePasquale, Darwin, who has lived in NZ but is known as a Territoorean and Melbourne bridge identity Simon Hinge (my favourite partner).

I have friends in both camps, so a win for either team would be a plus. I don't know whether you have noticed, but my aim is to be encouraging or congratulatory rather than stentorian or castigatory. Gone are the days when I would condemn a player for initiating a minor disaster. Now it's all about trying to catch the brilliancies. In my experience they are few and far between, and it would be easier to focus on errors.

Thus the stanza I watched is more a statement of a short match rather than a diatribe on errors.

The auctions I saw were all at the table where Brian Senior sat East. Here I want to congratulate NZBridge for their screens.

The roll down blackout blinds are a great idea, as well as the sturdy support poles for the screen. They are vastly superior to the Australian versions I am used to.

On the hand above, Brian tried to find a safer resting spot in 2♠ (1NT was 15-17), but the defence was accurate (♣J lead and continuation), so Brian was one down. In fact it is a NS hand, with eight tricks possible in notrumps.

At the other table, EW got to a hopeless 3NT, down 2, 3 IMPs to CAMP.

The table scoffed at Tania's motley collection (8 losers, 18 Total Tricks), but all roads led to nine tricks, with favourable positions for declarer in diamonds and clubs. 6IMPs to LLOYD when the contract was 1NT, +150 at the other table.

With everything working for EW, 11 tricks were possible here. Nigel Bird won the heart lead and went about clubs. With that suit breaking 3-3, he had no difficulty claiming 10 tricks.

At the other table EW reached 4♠ but failed to make; -50 and 6 IMPs to CAMP.

3♦ was a heart raise, and Nigel showed restraint by bidding only 3♠.

The defence started with a heart to the king and ace, followed by a club shift. Hugh won ♣A and continued a club to Tania's king. Instead of switching to a diamond (best at this stage of the defence), Tania exited ♠8. Nigel was able to win, draw trumps and play a diamond.

With the blockage in diamonds, the defence was now stymied. Hugh could win ♦Q and cash ♦A, but now had to play a heart, giving declarer eight tricks.

The defence was more crisp at the other table. Anisia Shami, defending 4♠, won ♥A at trick one and shifted accurately to a diamond. Owen Camp won ♦Q, cashed ♦A and exited ♣A and a second club to Anisia's king. She cashed ♦K, and could now exit either minor to give Owen a trump 3NT was a quick claimer when EW could only take three spades and a diamond, +600 at both tables.

For my next port of call I visited the table where my best friend was sitting, and as she broke one of my cardinal rules, I am not going to name her.

I am a believer in the Pearson Point Rule, which governs your action in opening the bidding in fourth seat. Would you open this hand?

♠K, ♥Q72, ♦AJ9762, ♣K108

Stephen: I don't care that we made +600, you shouldn't have opened with 14 Pearson Points, you need 15 (blah, blah,blah)

Misunderstood and misheard

During the round of 16 the following conversation was heard:

Julian opened 1NT and at this point Kevin and Julian are discussing that they are both feeling hungry and discussing that it must be late in the day and close to lunch. Julian and Kevin then heard Jenna say 11,14. Julian then says "It must be more than that". Jenna then has to say that, well you opened the 1NT and I don't know what you have apart from the fact you are meant to have 11 to 14 points!"

Of course the guys were thinking more about their lunch rather than getting on with the bridge and thought Jenna was telling them the time when she was announcing the 1NT opener.

In the next match Julian had a death wish when he made the comment "I can see too much of Jenna". How is that ever going to be an appropriate comment?

Apparently the screen had been raised too high!

Ed: Thanks, Jenna!

Richard Blandford, Director

Richard learned bridge in 1971 and he joined Waimate Bridge Club in 1972. After moving to Dargaville in 1975, he was part of a group that formed the Dargaville Bridge Club.

"As a new club, with fairly inexperienced players, we had to allocate roles to people, and I picked up directing."

Richard directed his first tournament in 1979, the Dargaville Junior Pairs, and gradually got asked to do more until he was directing all Northland tournaments. In 1990, Richard sat his first bridge directing exam.

"It was supposed to be the Club Director's exam, but the standard of the paper was so hard that it was upgraded to a Tournament Qualification." Richard has been Congress Director continuously since 1990, except for two years that he spent overseas.

"This year will be my 30th Congress as a Director. I get a real buzz out of that team atmosphere, and the way in which we strive to produce a really good event for the players. I value the congress directing experience because of the professional and collegial way in which the team works. I also feel that it is a way I can give back to the game which gives me so much pleasure."

Richard moved to Whangarei in 2009. These days, Richard rarely directs outside of club sessions but is still involved with assessing directors and some education work with directors.

Outside of bridge, Richard is an avid reader and is a Trustee of the Whangarei Harbour Town Basin Marina. Although no longer sailing, Richard helps out with some of the training at the local yacht club.

Babs-Merel, Director

It was a case of third time lucky for Babs-Merel learning to play bridge. She first gave it a go in 1994 while living in Canada and, with other uni students largely took a 'self-taught' approach.

As Babs-Merel says, "that didn't work out so well."

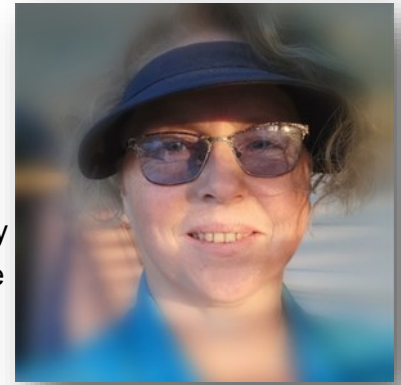

Then in 1998, Babs-Merel and her husband joined a local club and took lessons, but club rules restricted partnerships to three series and that didn't fly.

In 2009, morning lessons at the Hutt club worked around childcare arrangements. Success at last. A lack of club directors was limiting the number of sessions at her local club and conflicting information about what to do following irregularities, and this situation motivated Babs to consider becoming a director.

She became a club director in 2010, less than a year after she came out of lessons, and a tournament director in 2022.

She was a director at the 2022 Congress and Kaikoūra is her home club. For Babs-Merel, one of the pluses of being a director at Congress is being part of a team of directors.

"Often as a director you can feel isolated. At congress that doesn't happen and it's easier to collaborate before making a ruling".
