ABOUT BRIDGE

Bridge is a card game for four players, played as a partnership two against two using points of the compass to designate their position at the table. They use one pack of cards at a time and the pack contains fifty-two cards (no jokers). Having shuffled the pack the cards are dealt clockwise, one at a time until each player has 13 cards, after which the bidding phase begins.

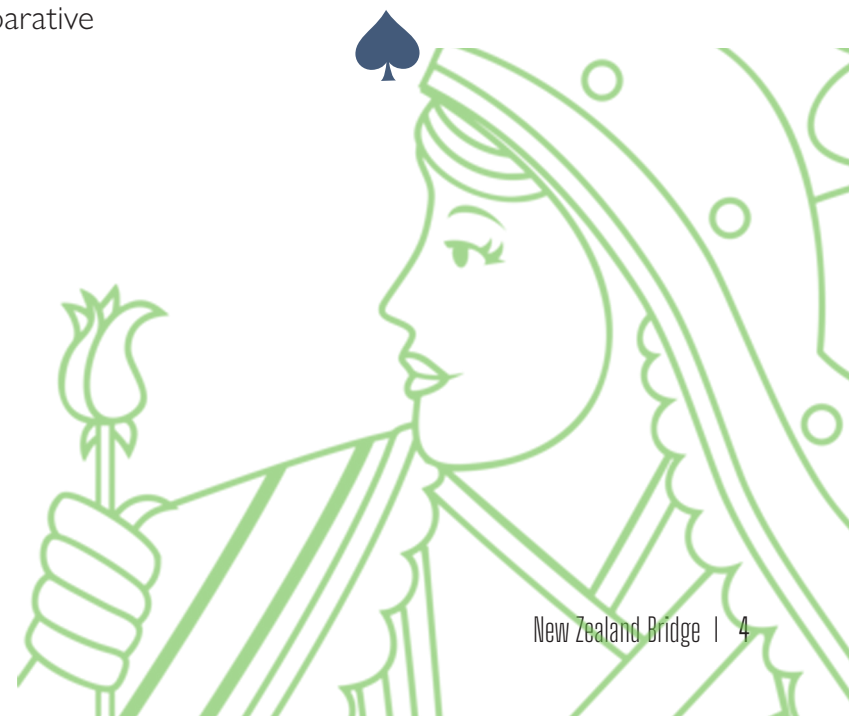

One Bridge deal, or hand, takes approximately 7 minutes to play. This includes both the bidding and the subsequent play. At a Bridge club, a Bridge session involves around 20 deals though if you are playing at home, you can play as few or as many as you like.

Most club and tournament play involve some variant of duplicate Bridge, in which the cards are not re-dealt on each occasion, but the same deal is played by two or more sets of players (or “tables”) to enable comparative scoring. Duplicate Bridge removes the luck of the draw from the competition – ie being dealt all the best cards!

LEARNING BRIDGE

Most local clubs are running lessons in the new year. Please contact them directly (local Bridge club contacts here) to find out details.

You can learn to play on your own, as a pair, or in a group.

With the help of friendly club players, all learners can soon pick up the basics of Bridge ... but the subtleties and strategies take a while longer.

Lessons/supervised play usually takes place over several months at a Bridge club whilst learners become au fait with the terminology and learn the “language” of Bridge.

To master the game might take a lifetime!

NZ NATIONAL BRIDGE CONGRESS EVENT

The New Zealand National Bridge Congress sees the best Bridge players from across the country come together to compete and celebrate the card game they love.

This event will be hosted for the first time in Palmerston North from Saturday 8th to Saturday 15th November 2025.

The New Zealand National Bridge Congress will be attended by top international players to watch, such as Michael Cornell, Michael Ware, Geo Tislevoll and champion partnerships like Martin Reid and Peter Newell alongside personalities like Barry Jones and Mereana Cullen, Judge Julie (Julie Atkinson) and Pam Livingston (Kermit) of Bridge Zone fame.

Bridge is a game for all ages, and there are some exciting young rising stars who will be in attendance, including Jack James, Leon Meier, Jeremy Fraser Hoskin. Matt Brown and Michael Whibley who will be bringing their enthusiasm and skill for the game to the congress event.

It is wonderful to also see competitive family teams in attendance, such as mother and daughter teams Andi Boughey and Carol Richardson and Jenna and Christine Gibbons, who will be competing at international level.

The event regularly attracts 600+ players during the week, including international players and brings over $1 million in revenue to the area.
